LEVEL CROSSING REMOVAL UPDATE

HURSTBRIDGE LINE
HEIDELBERG | ROSANNA
JUNE 2017

The Victorian Government is removing two dangerous and congested level crossings along the Hurstbridge line and duplicating the single section of track between Heidelberg and Rosanna stations. This will make communities safer and get commuters in Melbourne's north east home sooner.

Last month, our project team continued to install new electricity services underground and started widening the embankment between Darebin and Brown streets, Heidelberg, to make room for the new set of tracks between Heidelberg and Rosanna stations.

In Rosanna, we have started removing small amounts of trees and shrubs and establishing construction sites for the new Rosanna Station and Lower Plenty Road level crossing removal.

In June, construction activities will occur in and around the railway line from Monday to Sunday, 7.00am to 6.00pm.

Occasionally we will work overnight, while trains are not running, to ensure the safety of our work crews; to allow for our project teams to upgrade the power and signalling wires within the railway line; and, to allow for machinery to access the site.
